

Artist: softreboot

Genre: Indietronica / Alternative Rock / Indie Rock / Shoegaze

Base: London, UK

Focus Track: Parallax Dream

About the Artist (Bio): softreboot is the conceptual solo project of Sergei Orlov. Born at the intersection of human emotion and modern technology, the project explores themes of degradation—fading memories, lost signals, and the emotional distance between people. While all lyrics, overarching concepts, and musical direction are deeply personal and human-driven, softreboot embraces AI as an innovative production instrument to build expansive, atmospheric soundscapes. The result is a unique blend of early 2000s alt-rock melancholy and modern electronic textures, highly recommended for fans of Radiohead, Placebo, and The xx.

About the Release & The "Dust Protocol" Universe: The debut single "Parallax Dream" is the first chapter of a larger conceptual universe called "Dust Protocol"—a musical logbook of a system slowly losing its data. The track uses the metaphor of the parallax effect to describe the feeling of sharing the same physical space with someone, but living in completely different emotional rooms.

The official music video for "Parallax Dream" is already out and available on YouTube.

What's Next: The project is operating with a fully completed debut album. The next single from the Dust Protocol universe is officially scheduled for release on April 24, 2026.
